PROGRAM

Patty Whisman introduced our program, Pamela Watkins with Allonnia

Allonnia works in harmony with nature. They fast forward time and bring nature's future solutions to the present day. Their goal is to harmonize industry and nature to mitigate our environmental footprint.

To solve the planet's biggest environmental challenges, they're writing a new law of conservation — that waste is neither created nor destroyed — only transformed.

Allonnia transforms liability into value by leveraging the power of biotechnology and engineered systems to help our customers reach their environmental, social and governance (ESG) goals in a waste-free world.

She stated that if we can make mining more efficient and cut down on greenhouse gas emissions, that is better for all.

Allonnia Sustainability Impact by 2040

- Lower Co2 [100 million tons of CO2 captured]
- Cleaner mining [30 million tons of critical mining produced]
- Safer Water [600 billion gallons of water detoxified and released]

We imagine a world where

- Legacy waste has been remediated
- Post-manufacturing and consumer waste are upcycled
- Our climate is healthy and supports our population
