Rotary Recap

November 6, 2014
By Steven Tucker & Jim Paxton

Rotary Club of Green Valley (RCGV) President Jack Ewing rang the late bell at 7:00 a.m., initiating breakfast and fellowship before calling the meeting to order at 7:15. Jack led the Club in the Pledge of Allegiance, and Sergeant-at-arms for the day, Ashley Mahaney, introduced visiting Rotarians and guests. Debbie Mitsch and Paul Kline were our visiting Rotarians. Paul was lured from Ohio by his past club colleague Art Basa. Chelyn Silberkraus and son were present as guests of Steve S. Janet Pancoast, a pending member, was also introduced.

Announcements and reminders followed, including a promotion of the Club Roundup, held last Friday, at Miller's Ale House. The board of Directors meeting is held monthly, on the second Tuesday of the month. Opportunity Village project Chair Jim Frey needs additional volunteers on Nov. 25. Our Club holiday party is December 6, and a site is still needed. The high school all-star soccer game is scheduled for Dec. 10, and the annual Green Valley High School Holiday meeting is Dec. 11.

Foundation Chair Susan Johnson presented Bob Hulshouser with his Paul Harris Award. The standing ovation for Bob's contribution and achievements was much in +4 award. The standing ovation for Bob's contribution and achievements was much in order.

Fines, recognition and happy dollars began with the revelation that today's secret greeter was Bob Dworkin. Bob reported that everyone greeted him, as is our custom, except President Jack! Past Pres Mike Peterson then began to work the room, beginning with the usual suspects spinning the wheel as latecomers. Many members hit on the recurring theme of congratulating RCGV's three members elected or re-elected to public office on Tuesday. Stephen Silberkraus is a new member of the State Assembly, Richard Scotti was elected judge, and Susan Johnson was reelected as judge. Don Havins is a new grandfather. Bob Hulshouser and D.G Larry Skaggs attended the Interact Retreat in California. Richard Scotti wants to contribute more energy to Rotary now that the election is over. Susan Johnson just wants to go on vacation. Caroline Orzes was able to experience the fall colors in New England, and Dave Chase thought the New England fall colors were blue and white because the Patriots won. Gerry Gardberg shot his age in golf. Steve Tucker was able to watch the Giants World Series game 7 with his grandsons, while visiting northern California. Lauren Robydek passed her realtor's exam and won at fantasy football. Brian Whitaker is delighted the political ads and calls are over for awhile. A couple of dammit dollars didn't put much of a dent in the extraordinary list of happy ones. Mike Peterson's dad is facing some serious health challenges. Jim Frey was not altogether pleased with the outcome of our recent elections (with the exception of those involving our members).

Shelia Callum introduced our speaker of the day, our own Dave Jochman, resplendent in his U.S. Marine captain's uniform, sword and all. Dave traced the proud history of the Marine Corps from its 1775 beginnings in Philadelphia to the present. Dave served as a helicopter pilot, 1971-6, at Quantico. He told us of the meanings of various parts of the uniform and of Marine participation, with valor, in conflicts from the Revolution, "from the shores of Tripoli to the Halls of Montezuma" in World Wars I and II, Korea, Viet Nam, and more. He explained that Marines study history so that the Marines of today will live up to the reputation of the Marines who have gone before. It was an impressive program, underling the fact that many of our finest programs come from our own Rotary members. Thanks Dave!
