Gala Rotary Roundup

October 2, 2014

By Jim Paxton

Dress suits, Black coats and ties, beautiful dresses, fabulous food, fellowship, and successful community support were hallmarks of Rotary Club of Green Valley's (RCGV) second annual gala event celebrated last Thursday at the Lux at the top of the M Resort and Casino. The Club anxiously awaits bottom line results from the silent auction and ticket sales for the event which drew approximately 190 RCGV members and friends.

The Club's attending honorees were Robert and Sandra Ellis, two of Henderson's most philanthropic citizens. The couple has done much to support and improve the education of our youth. They have involved themselves with improving literacy, and during his comments to the audience, Robert voiced support for the Club's literacy involvement. "If a child isn't reading proficiently by the third grade, that child is vulnerable to all sorts of bad results later in life. The incidence of crime, prison, and poverty are results that often occur for the slow readers."

Guests actively bid on sports memorabilia, golf outings, jewelry, and restaurant gift certificates during the cocktail hour and silent auction. Autographed best sellers were in the mix along with a helicopter excursion and travel packages.

The food served by the Lux staff was widely praised, and when the chef was introduced, he drew loud applause. The serving staff added to the gala with good service and lots of smiles. An unfortunate challenge came from a hick-up with the sound system, which was later resolved. Media personality Heidi Harris was acclaimed for her performance as master of ceremonies for the program.

A live auction followed the dinner, and a lovable chawohwa mix was auctioned for $275. The use of an high end Audi was also auctioned. Several vacation packages, including a trip to Maui did not receive the reserve bid, so the packages were returned to the consignee. Club member Dave Jochman stepped up to do the live auction duties when the scheduled Auctioner was not available. Thank you Dave!!

RCGV President Jack Ewing thanked the Gala Committee for their successful efforts, and he called the Gala a "great step forward for the Club. It was a wonderful event, and people had a good time," he added. The Gala Committee had a debriefing meeting Wednesday night, and the Committee will strive for even more success next year.
