Bloody Good!

Our October 5th bloodmobile efforts reaped only 13 donors. Our next opportunity is December 5. Keep bringing in the blood...we need to keep building up our regular donor list.

Right, we see three members during the process of donating on 10/3. Thank you to Nick Nail, Stan Evetts and Don Henderson.

Meeting Speakers

Dr. Shannon Subramaniam Spoke on 10/3. She is a chiropractor in private practice as well as at CTCA. She spoke about positive expectations and made note of foods good to eat "If it can grow green stuff sitting on your counter, it can grow health."

On 10/10 Gloyd McCoy gave us some interesting insight into the 1977 Girl Scout murder case. He was a criminal defense attorney and thus has a great understanding of the investigation and prosecution for that case. His book "Tent Number Eight" details much of his research into this crime. He generously provided two signed books to our adopted school, and also three books for the "Shop With A Rotarian" auction.

His next book is being researched now and is about Oklahoma's involvement in the Vietnam war. Some facts he gave us revealed that Coweta was #1 per capita in losses in that war...and Broken Arrow was #2.

Dr. Tommy Poole of NSU talked about a proposed Jazz Lab for downtown Broken Arrow. He has an extensive background in musical entertainment and is eager to promote the development of nightlife in Broken Arrow. The photo here is him demonstrating a "Salsa" beat on 10/17

TU basketball was the topic on 10/24, with coach Doug Wojcik giving us some insight into this year's team and the updated features of the Reynolds Center. He is excited about the team's prospects, but gives his main purpose in coaching to develop young players into solid, self-confident citizens who understand and appreciate the value of a college education. Doug is in his seventh season as TU head coach.

Stan Evetts presents the STAR Club 2011-11 award to Terry Cupp. This was earned by donations averaging $100 per member to the RI Foundation during the 2010-11 year.

This was awarded during the District Conference 9/24/11.

Sergeant at Arms Dave Beinke has been selling 50/50 tickets with $5 pulled from the winner's part to be returned if they answer the question correctly. So far, all fives have been returned to the club split.

Our meetings have been well served with catering that often includes dessert. There is always plenty of food, and it is well-prepared.

The above photo has two visiting Rotarians: Kamara Washington, of the North Tulsa Club, and Ron Howell of the Bixby Club. Also shown is John Slater, who at the time was a prospective member.

"Infinity" Unveiled

The school system had generous donors to create the site and manage the installation. Flintco provided a flatbed truck and brought "Infinity" to Tulsa, setting it on the deep base block donated by Arrow Concrete. The site had been designed by PBK Architects and the contractor is Nabholz Construction Services. Greigo Concrete provided the crew doing the above work smoothing and texturing the surface of the plaza.

Stan Evetts handed the deed and a photo over to Mark Frie, Executive director of the PAC, and Sharon Whelpley, Broken Arrow School Board, on 10/11. The committee members pulled the drape off of the piece and were delighted with its beauty. Committee members are: Chair, Bob Cacy, Clarence Oliver, Scott Graham, Janie Thomas, Paul Barrett, Nick Nail and Terry Cupp.
