This Week's Program March 26, 2025

Michael R. Pakko, Ph.D.

Dr. Michael R. Pakko is Chief Economist and State Economic Forecaster at the Arkansas Economic Development Institute at the University of Arkansas at Little Rock. Pakko received his B.A. from Michigan State University in 1984 and a Ph.D. from the University of Rochester in 1994.

Before moving to Little Rock in 2009, Dr. Pakko spent 16 years as a research economist and officer at the Federal Reserve Bank of St. Louis, where he published research on a variety of topics, including international trade, economic growth, macroeconomics, and public policy.

After delving into the study of regional economics, Dr. Pakko found himself drawn to Arkansas. For the past 15 years, he has taken on the task of providing his analysis of the state's macroeconomic conditions, along with conducting research to support economic development projects around the state.

In addition to his other research responsibilities at AEDI, he hosts the annual Arkansas Economic Forecast Conference, is a regular speaker at professional and business events, and is a frequent media commentator. He has taught economics at various universities over the years, and is presently an adjunct instructor in the UALR School of Business.

Dr. Pakko was also the Libertarian candidate for State Treasurer in the 2024 general election.

Four-Way Test

The Four Way Test of the things we think, say, or do...

1. Is it the truth?
2. Is it fair to all concerned?
3. Will it build goodwill and better friendships?
4. Will it be beneficial to all concerned?
