Rotary Creates Environments Where Peace Can Happen

By Santos Salinas on Monday, February 17, 2025

Rotary describes our four roles in promoting peace as practitioners, educators, mediators, and advocates. Most of us, as Rotarians, participate directly as practitioners. Have you and your club supported a literacy program? Clean Water? Clothes? The list could go on and on. Whether it's locally or globally, creating an environment for peace begins with us and the decisions that we have made to be a part of Rotary with our friends. As contributors to the Rotary Foundation and the Annual Fund/SHARE, you help Rotary in its mission to negotiate in conflict areas to be able to deliver polio vaccines. This includes, for example, a recent humanitarian pause in Gaza in September and October 2024 so that Rotary could vaccinate over 550,000 children in that conflict zone. This is one of many examples of how all of us as Rotarians are contributing to these humanitarian efforts. You can learn more about this campaign HERE. In addition to that, I would encourage us all to learn more about our peacebuilding cause HERE.

"Peace cannot be kept by force; it can only be achieved by understanding." -Albert Einstein. And so, I encourage all of us to begin our peacebuilding here, at home, in our clubs, and within ourselves.

Over the last several months I've made so many new friends and I have met so many of you with different perspectives. I've loved it all and look forward to many more moments ahead.
