This Week at Rotary Connie Knox

Connie will be our speaker tomorrow. She will be speaking about Family Legacy and how to use YouTube in your business. Connie has had a lot of experience using YouTube for her Genealogy TV company. This should be very interesting so make plans to attend. Watch a video or two on YouTube before you come on Friday.

Last Week at Rotary

At last week's meeting our President-Elect Brandon shared his philosophy on creating a Path for Sustainable Growth. He used thoughts and concepts he heard at PETS last week as well as ideas he uses in his business. He spoke about Annual Business Planning, Kaizen, and SWOT analysis. These concepts were very timely, since we are discussing our club's decline in membership. It was very interesting and sparked a lot of conversation. Thanks Brandon.

Work on Wilmington

Saturday, April 26, 2025, from 8:00am to 12:00pm (After Party 5:00 to 7:00)

Work On Wilmington is organized each year by the current class of Leadership Wilmington. Work on Wilmington brings people together to roll up their sleeves and tackle community problems in just four hours. The results are amazing. Projects that would normally take many times longer are completed in just half a day. Volunteers participate in a variety of service projects throughout the community with a common goal: Make Wilmington a better place to live. Work On Wilmington seeks to energize the volunteer spirit in all of us by following the successful model active in more than 50 cities across the United States. Work On Wilmington works in partnership with community organizations and agencies to create meaningful, hands-on service projects that improve the quality of life and achieve results. Brent has signed up and created a group called Cape Fear Rotary. Our goal is 10 members participating. This will be a fun day, with a party afterward. And its a great way to elevate our club's visibility in our community.
